RECYCLING CLUB NEWS

It's August and we're still getting new people signing up for the Recycling Club. If you know anyone aged 4 to 16 years then let them know there's still time to get in and collect points. The points can be collected right through the rest of summer and fall, so get those refundables into a depot and get the points. Points mean prizes!

DID YOU KNOW?

We all know this symbol but where does it come from? The recycling symbol we know and love was designed by Gary Anderson in 1970. He drew it as an entry for a competition designed to raise awareness of environmental issues. If you want to be technical, the symbol is made from three mutually chasing arrows that form a Möbius strip. The idea is that the arrows represent three stages of recycling. Collection, manufacture of recycled items and their use. The symbol is in the public domain so it can be used and even altered without having to pay anyone royalties.
