All Change At Raven For the Summer

By now, Raven will have set up the temporary depot in the back of our building along with the temporary drop off area. A side effect of the changes is that our drop-off will only be open the same hours as the depot and will not be open 24 hours through the summer. We are taking advantage of the closure to do some work on the regular depot which will be back in use in the Fall, as a newish and improved depot. The outside of our building and the yard will hopefully be getting a facelift as well.

We'll be updating our website with news and keep your eye out for the next Raven Report for more information on our plans.

If you come into Raven Central these days you'll see a new face behind the front desk. Our former office administrator and Jedi master, Ean, has left us to train for a new career in Alberta. After a long and difficult search for a replacement who is strong with the force, we finally found Gloria. She will be at the desk and on the phone ready to help with all your recycling and general Raven questions.

RECYCLING CLUB NEWS

The Recycling Club is up and running for another year and lots of people have already signed up. Don't forget that groups can apply for membership as long as the members are between 4 and 16 years old.

As soon as you have enough points to get the prize you want, you can claim your certificate. You can keep collecting points up to 17th November even if you have already claimed a prize.

DID YOU KNOW?

The triangle on plastics is not a recycling symbol. It is a code which plastic companies use to indicate which chemicals are in the plastic. The above symbol means that the product is made from Polyethylene-terephthalate, (C<sub>10</sub>H<sub>8</sub>O<sub>4</sub>)<sub>n</sub>. Bottles, fleeces & carpets are made of this material. PETE, or #1 plastic, earns Raven money. The plastic soda bottle that you drop off for a refund could be back in the territory within months as a new bottle or even a cosy fleece! Triangle or not, all plastics are recyclable.
